Dear Karime,

I would sincerely like to apologize for any hurt I have caused you.

I hope in the future we can learn and understand each other's life journey and in knowing, embrace and grow from these differences.

I acknowledge your hurt and want to be clear that we were not advocating divorce or any such actions.

As someone who has been married as long as we have and have had many challenges over the years I can say from experience that working together as a unit produces the best results. Your devotion to Tim is clear and it gives us much happiness.

Family's can be messy at times but are also a great comfort.

Whenever you are ready it would be wonderful to spend time together as a family.

Much Love

Elaine
